DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-6, 10, and 13, drawn to a method of identifying a unique siRNA nucleotide sequence.

Group II, claim(s) 14, drawn to a method of inhibiting expression of a target mRNA molecule with a uniquely targeting siRNA.

Group III, claim(s) 15-20, 24, 27, drawn to a method of identifying an miRNA nucleotide sequence that does not function as an siRNA.

Group IV, claim(s) 28, drawn to a method of inhibiting expression of a target mRNA with an miRNA.

Group V, claim(s) 29-32 and 36, drawn to a uniquely targeting siRNA molecule.

Group VI, claim(s) 39, drawn to a RISC comprising an siRNA molecule.

Group VII, claim(s) 40-41 and 45, drawn to an miRNA molecule.

The inventions listed as Groups I-VII do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The inventions of groups I-VII are found to have no special technical feature that defines a contribution over the prior art of Elbashir et al. (Methods, 2002, 26:199-213).

Art Unit: 1635

The first claimed invention in the instant case is a method of identifying a uniquely targeting siRNA nucleotide sequence for a specific target mRNA sequence by comparing a database of mRNA sequences with an siRNA sequence that is complementary to is at least 11 consecutive nucleotides, wherein the absence of the 11 consecutive, complementary nucleotides indicates that the identified siRNA nucleotide sequence is target-specific and unique, thereby targeting only a single gene. Elbashir et al. teach that one needs to check the potentially identified 19-mer siRNA nucleotide sequences against mRNA nucleotide database in order to select an siRNA nucleotide sequence that is target mRNA-specific and unique for the intended target mRNA. See pages 201-202. Therefore, applicant's invention does not contribute a special technical feature when viewed over the prior art of Elbashir et al. Accordingly, the inventions of group I-VII do not have a single inventive concept and so lack unity of invention, and therefore the restriction for examination purpose as indicated is proper.

Election of Species

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

An oncogene, a pathogen protein, a cytokine, a chemokine, a co-stimulatory molecule, and a growth factor recited in claims 10, 24, and 36.

The following claim(s) are generic: Claims 1, 15, and 29.

Art Unit: 1635

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Elbashir et al. (Methods, 2002, 26:199-213) teach a method of identifying a uniquely targeting siRNA sequence against NuMA, which is oncogenic especially for acute promyelocytic leukemia. See Dong et al. (Oncogene, 2003, 22:858-868). Hence, the species are found to have no special technical feature that defines a contribution over the prior art of Elbashir et al. as evidenced by Dong et al.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

Art Unit: 1635

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Notice of Rejoinder

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102,

Art Unit: 1635

103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained.

Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
